Centenary College of Louisiana

In 1825, the College of Louisiana began offering liberal arts and pre-professional education to college students in the South. Twenty-three years later, in 1848, it merged with Centenary College, a Methodist institution in Clinton, Mississippi. In 1908, Centenary College of Louisiana moved to its present location in Shreveport.

For more than 197 years, Centenary College has stood for academic and professional excellence. Our graduates have gone on to high achievement in business and their professional lives, and our faculty members have distinguished themselves in teaching, research, and professional service.

Graduate business education came to Centenary in 1976. The MBA Program began in 1984. Enrollment in the program is limited, assuring a personalized education and maximum interaction among participants and our faculty.

Our Mission

Centenary College prepares global citizens to live productive lives of vitality and purpose.

Our Vision

Building on a firm foundation in the liberal arts, Centenary is committed to education that happens inside and outside the classroom, in the community, and in the world. Centenary students will be challenged to read, listen, and think critically; to write and speak clearly; to analyze, interpret, and synthesize ideas and information qualitatively and quantitatively; to celebrate the diversity of human cultures; and to appreciate the value of artistic expression. This will take place on a campus enriched by individuals from many faiths and cultures and that emphasizes ethical and intellectual growth and the joy of creativity and discovery.

Our Values

Consistent with its founding as a Methodist institution and its continued affiliation with the United Methodist Church, Centenary College promotes the values of compassion, integrity, intellectual and moral courage, and personal and collective responsibility. Centenary is committed to the value of civic debate, the integrity of science, and the inherent usefulness of the liberal arts to help students lead lives of meaning. As a community, the College cultivates the knowledge, truth, and integrity that are crucial to our common future as we seek to transform the world.

Our Commitment to Diversity

Centenary College of Louisiana values human diversity in all its richly complex and multi-faceted forms, whether expressed through race and ethnicity, culture, political and social views, religious and spiritual beliefs, language and geographic characteristics, gender, gender identities and sexual orientations, learning and physical abilities, age, and social or economic classes.

II. Program Overview

Purpose of the MBA Program

Centenary College's Master of Business Administration (MBA) program aims to help bright, ambitious individuals achieve greater success in their management careers. We stress the key skills and critical business concepts that managers need to be effective in their jobs today and in the future. We also help each individual develop the confidence and insight required for accepting greater responsibility.

Our program is designed to heighten strategic thinking and to develop the entrepreneurial mindset that enables innovation within organizations. Our students become adept at recognizing an opportunity, marshalling the necessary resources, and executing the opportunity as a holistic plan: Strategy Defined—Innovation Applied.

We expect that our graduates will expand their leadership responsibilities, advance faster, and rise higher with the Centenary MBA degree.

We strive to provide students with a challenging, immediately applicable, and stimulating learning environment that will maximize their return on investment. After satisfactorily completing all coursework and program requirements, a student earns a MBA degree.

History of the Centenary MBA Program

The current MBA program at Centenary College began in the winter of 1984. The Dean and faculty of the Frost School of Business designed a program to answer growing criticism that traditional MBA programs had become overly theoretical at the expense of practicality and career usefulness.

Faculty of the Frost School of Business met with foundation heads, business leaders, and management trainers in government and industry prior to designing the present program for experienced professionals. Since the first announcement of our Executive MBA program in November 1984, the response has been strong and enthusiastic.

Recently, the Frost School of Business faculty reviewed the curriculum for currency and relevancy and made a number of curricular changes.

Accreditation

Philosophy of Instruction

Centenary MBA courses concentrate on core concepts that have significant practical applications in today's organizations. Our courses are taught from a senior management perspective with an emphasis on the business skills and knowledge that enable a shift from functional expertise to broad-based leadership, strategic thinking, and a mindset for organizational innovation.

Courses are taught by full-time Centenary professors as well as highly qualified business executives who are currently active in developing new products, financing ventures, managing factories, and guiding personnel programs. Typically, class sizes are small, assuring a personalized and highly interactive learning environment.

Our program taps into the management and operating experience of each participant and then builds on that experience in the classroom. The Frost faculty is particularly adept at stimulating the exchange of ideas among our students. The applied orientation of our program facilitates immediate transfer of classroom learning back to the workplace while preparing our MBA candidates for the challenges each will face in the future.

Program Outcomes

At completion of the MBA, students will have developed a valuable skillset, including communication, critical thinking, and complex problem solving. Students will be prepared to analyze, design, and implement projects as an influential leader in their organization. Graduates of our in-class MBA will be able to perform the following:

- Critically assess business performance to strategically manage business opportunities in a dynamic context.
- Analyze organizational resources to enhance productivity, collaboration, and innovation.

Academic Workload

Centenary MBA courses are intense and demanding. Most students take one to two courses per term. In a typical week, students may expect to spend approximately eight hours outside of class preparing for each class session. Students who know in advance that they will have to miss more than one class meeting should not enroll for that term. With three absences, students are automatically dropped from the course. Extenuating circumstances for more than two absences must be approved by the instructor and the Dean.

Probation and Dismissal

A student who receives a grade of "C" in any graduate course pursued in the graduate program will be placed on probation. A second "C" will result in dismissal from the graduate program and the student will not be allowed to pursue any further graduate work in the Centenary College Frost School of Business. A student whose semester grade point average or cumulative grade point average falls below 3.0, will be placed on probation; if the student fails to raise the grade point average to at least a 3.0 in the following two terms, the student will be dismissed from the graduate program, and will not be allowed to pursue any further graduate work in the Centenary College Frost School of Business. While it is the responsibility of faculty to explain what constitutes academic dishonesty within the particular requirements of their courses, academic dishonesty is generally defined as the representation of another's work as one's own, a violation of testing conditions, or complicity in such acts.

Centenary College follows the following procedure for all cases in which a student enrolled in graduate coursework is suspected of academic dishonesty:

MBA Program

Frost School of Business

Centenary College of Louisiana

1. The instructor, observing or becoming aware of an apparent incident of academic dishonesty, informs the student of the infraction as expeditiously as possible. The instructor may take whatever academic punitive action he/she may deem appropriate, up to and including a grade of F in the course and removal from the classroom.
2. The instructor must inform the Dean by letter of the infraction and the instructor-imposed penalty. The Dean determines whether additional academic punitive action is appropriate.
3. Via certified mail (with a copy sent by regular mail), the Dean must inform the student of the actions taken and the student's right to appeal the decision to the Graduate Council. Proof of mailing will be sufficient to prove notice in the event that the recipient refuses to sign for or accept the letter.
4. Should the student wish to appeal, he/she must make a written appeal within one week of this notification by delivering a written appeal to the Dean. The Dean will then forward the appeal to the chair of the Graduate Council.
5. If the accused student appeals the instructor's action, the Graduate Council takes testimony from the instructor, the student, and all appropriate witnesses including those designated by the student.
6. In the event of a finding of guilt, the ruling is final; however, the Graduate Council may modify the penalty.
7. Should the student be found innocent, the instructor must re-evaluate the work in question and not penalize the student for the alleged violation.

Grade Appeal Policy

1. It is the policy of Centenary College that students are responsible for fulfilling prescribed course objectives, completing stated course assignments, and adhering to stated academic standards for each course in which they are enrolled. If an instructor has evaluated a graduate candidate in a professionally accepted manner, an academic appeal is not warranted. Also, an appeal is an inappropriate recourse for questions of professional competence or academic freedoms. Only charges of arbitrariness, capriciousness, and prejudice are subject to academic appeal.
2. Based on these principles, issues eligible for appeal involve computational errors, application of course rules, adherence to syllabi, consistency and communication of evaluation standards, and expressed bias.
3. Graduate candidates who believe that their final grade reflects an arbitrary or capricious academic evaluation or reflects discrimination

MBA Program

Frost School of Business

Centenary

of Louisiana

based on race, color, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, or disability may employ the following procedures to seek modification of such an evaluation:

- a. If a graduate candidate receives a final grade in a course which he/she believes is unfair, the candidate should first contact the faculty member involved prior to the end of the drop/add period of the next academic term.
- b. If the candidate complaint is not resolved, the candidate may appeal his/her grade to the Dean. It is the candidate's responsibility to provide a written statement of the specific grievance with all relevant documentation (syllabus, guidelines for papers, presentations, etc.) attached.
- c. If the Dean is unable to resolve the grade appeal to the satisfaction of the candidate and the faculty member involved, or the faculty member involved is the Dean, then a written appeal prepared by the candidate with all relevant documentation may be made to the Provost and Dean of the College. The Provost and Dean of the College will make the final decision in terms of resolution of the appeal.
- d. All parties to the grade appeal process are to maintain strict confidentiality until the matter is resolved.

All policies of Centenary College apply to both undergraduate and graduate students, unless specifically noted in this catalog.
